Unit: Chocolate Reading Unit

Part I: Clarity of Learning Targets

What are the grade level indicators that go with this unit? Place a star next to the grade level indicators that are Power Indicators. Are the indicators in student friendly language? Place the level of Bloom’s Taxonomy next to each Power Indicator.

What are the Big Ideas that go with this unit?

I can draw conclusions.

I can identify who is telling the story and state if it’s first or third person narration.

I can describe the main events in the story I’m reading and state the major problem (conflict) and how it’s solved.

I can identify the theme of the book I’m reading by finding it stated in the book or figuring it out from everything I’ve read.

I can describe the thoughts, words and interactions of characters.

I can make inferences and draw conclusions about what I’ve read and support them with details from the story.

I can summarize by stating the main points of the book I’m reading.

I can identify the influence of the setting on a selection.

I can make and support predictions.
I can identify the problem in the book I'm reading.
I can describe the main character in the book I'm reading.

What are the Essential Questions that go with this unit?

The essential questions used will be attached using the exit slips currently created for this unit.

What strategies will we use in order to make learning targets clearer for all students, before, during and after instruction? How will you communicate the learning indicators to students?

The strategies we'll use to make learning targets clearer for all students are as follows:

- discuss learning target before lesson
- provide strong and weak work samples
- model for the students what it looks like to be effectively mastering the learning target
- discuss learning target during and after lesson
- provide opportunities for students to obtain extra help in a small group situation, when necessary

Part II: Feedback and Assessments (Formative and Summative)

How will we provide students with feedback throughout the unit?

What formative assessments will we use? (Non-graded assignments that check for understanding and provide feedback to the students) Incorporate the 7 Strategies of Assessment for Learning here.

We'll use "exit slips" with the learning target directly on the exit slip. After we complete a mini-lesson, we'll allow the students time to complete their work and show us they can master the learning target. They'll do this by completing an exit slip about what they read. We'll use these as a formative assessment tool and provide feedback to the students on the slip.

How will students be involved with keeping track of their own learning progress (note—this is different than tracking points for a grade)?

The students will save their exit slips, and this will allow them to see their progress. They'll be able to look back at past feedback to help them improve on the next assignment.

What summative assessments will we use? (Graded, evaluative assessments)

We will give a test at the end of the unit encompassing the learning targets.

Olmsted Falls Schools: Unit Design Framework
Part III: Instruction and Student Activities

What instructional and student activities will we use for this unit? These activities should directly align with the indicators and assessments.
